An adaptive low pass filtering process with a filter delay $D_A$ is conducted in parallel with reference low pass filtering process with a filter delay $D_R$ which is greater than $D_A$. The error is measured between a delayed version of the adaptive process output and the reference process output. Filter parameters of the adaptive process are controlled to minimise the error.