Abstract (en)

A footwear parts processing machine comprises a powered head (11) served by a first carriage (13) supporting a footwear part, a powered head (12) served by a second carriage (14) supporting a footwear part and a powered device (15) for transfer of a footwear part from one of said carriages at an unloading position. Advantageously the two heads (11,12) are side-by-side and the respective carriages (13,14) run along parallel guides (24,25) to each move between a working position (26,27) opposite the respective head and a transfer position (28,29) opposite the transfer device (15) and in its unloading position the transfer device unloads the footwear part in one of said carriages. <IMAGE>
