Abstract (en)

The track for a locomotive toy, which track can be rolled up and put away when not required for use and does not require any assembly of track sections by the user, comprises a layer of felt material (1) defining by variations in its thickness a track layout (2) capable of guiding the movement of a locomotive toy along the layout (2). The method of making the track comprises defining a track layout (2) in a sheet of felt material (1) containing a thermo-setting resin by impressing the shape of the track layout (2) in the felt material (1) under heat and pressure.
