Abstract (en)

In a method of installing conduit such as the plumbing for central heating, rectangular conduit pipe (7) is laid on top of the flooring and adjacent a wall (8). Carpet fitting means in the form of a channel (1) is secured over the conduit pipe (7) and carries a series of teeth (6) enabling carpet to be fitted over the channel to conceal the pipe. The channel (1) is comparable in height with conventional carpet fitting strips and the pipe is thus effectively concealed.
