Abstract (en)

[origin: EP0009525A1] A hinged closure has a cap part (1) and an integral band (3) adapted to be separated circumferentially from one another except for a narrow interconnecting hinge (15) by removing a partial arcuate tear band (2) between the cap part and the anchor band and then applying upward pressure upon the cap part so as to tear two remaining arcuate membranes (13) which connect the tear band with the hinge.
