Abstract (en)

[origin: US4324825A] Partitions or separating walls are disclosed. The partitions are particularly intended to be used in interlocking relationship with a number of such partitions, and include a pair of opposed surfaces separated by a transverse edge, tabs disposed along that edge, and having adjoining ends alternately projecting therefrom towards the first and second surfaces, respectively. In this manner, the wall or partition may stand in a vertical plane without weight resting on these tabs, as was the case in the prior art. These partitions can then be utilized as classifiers for documents, magazines, telephone directories, etc.
