Abstract (en)
[origin: EP0017417A1] A storage rack has a plurality of compartments each having a mouth through which articles such as wine bottles (14) can be inserted for storage in the rack. The rack has closure means e.g. a grid (15,16) movable from an open position to a closed position. In the closed position the closure means reduces the size of the mouth of the compartments in order to prevent articles from being withdrawn from the compartments.
