Abstract (en)
A lampholder for a wedge base lamp 1 comprises a flat base 8 and a cylindrical portion 7 enclosing two spaced pairs of jaws 14A, 15 for gripping the base of the lamp 1. Only two diagonally opposite jaws 14A are of conducting material and are connected to the lamp terminals 11 and the other two jaws 15 are of insulating material and are integral with the base 8, being formed with barriers 16. The inclusion of the insulated jaws 15 prevents a faulty lamp contact from making a direct short circuit between opposite jaws of a pair and the barriers 16 prevent a lamp being inserted at right angles to the correct alignment.
