Abstract (en)
The packaging container has a base (20) formed of plastics with depressions to retain articles and a surrounding wall. It has a separate flat lid supported by upstanding pillars in the base. The lid has a flap (21) which, when the lid is fitted, extends parallel to an adjacent portion (24) of the surrounding wall of (13) of the base. The lid can be of cardboard (18) with a crease (22) defining the, or each, flap. It can be rectangular with a flap (21) extending along one or both of its sides and/or along its ends. The surrounding wall of the base can be transparent adjacent to the flap and the flap can extend inside the wall when the lid is fitted.
