Abstract (en)
The invention relates to a so-called lead-sealed closure for a bottle, the closing arrangement being constituted on the one hand of a disc (4) of rigid plastic material arranged over the mouth of the bottle, on the other hand of a shrunk sleeve (5) of plastic material envelopping both the mouth of the bottle and the disc which is grasped by and fixed to the sleeve. The sleeve moreover has a perforation (7) by means of which the sleeve can be divided, its upper part (11) being adapted so that it can be lifted off and put back on again so as to act as a reclosing arrangement for the bottle.
