Abstract (en)

[origin: EP0049694A1] The metal sections in question, that form the fixed frame, the movable frame and the frame-work surrounding the doors and windows achieved therewith, have a specially shaped base profile provided with particular projections (9) and longitudinal projecting parts (7) designed to couple by restraint one similar section to another, and to permit the insertion of anchoring and/or manoeuvring accessories (41,43) that can be fixed to the sections without subjecting them to any milling or drilling operation, thereby providing a structure that is particularly simple, robust, easy and fast to install.
