Abstract (en)
An accessory for the hair comprising a fringe (11) and securing means (13), attached to one edge of the fringe, suitably comprising a head band formed for example in an open curve of firm material having resilience so as to grip the sides of a user's head and having projections (21) to engage the head. The fringe in use overlies the user's forehead and may comprise real or synthetic hair, strips (93), or strings of beads (119) depending from the securing means. The fringe may have a plurality of layers (53, 55) of different colours, suitably attached to respective subsidiary bands (57, 59), for attachment to the head band. The accessory may be provided as a kit of parts. There is also a display device for fashion accessories having a surface with representations of human faces with means for retaining accessories in suitable positions thereon.
