Abstract (en)
[origin: EP0071089A1] A building structure is disclosed which comprises a central core with a plurality of habitable areas (1) extending radially outwardly therefrom in the manner of spokes of a wheel. Glassed-in walls (3) extend between the spokes to provide a plurality of climate-controlled atria (2). Facades (5) on the sides of the spokes adjoining the atria (2) also have glassed-in walls providing a view of both the atria (2) and the outdoors from within the habitable areas (1). The horizontal section of the building may be circular, oblong or polygonal.
