Abstract (en)
An article of comprises a flat top 11 and a frame 12. The frame has four pairs of legs 14, the legs of each pair being joined together by a rigid connector 15 to form one side and the four sides are internally hinged together to form a collapsible parallelogram. The article is held erect by means 17 on the top 11 which engage the frame to support it in a rectangular position. Means 18 may additionally be provided to attach the top to the frame. The article may form part of a kit comprising two or more frames and one of more linking pieces for joining the frames, together with one or more flat tops having means for locating and holding the frame in the erect position. The article may be in the form of a table, trolley or stool and the kit could be used to form a table or bench.
