Abstract (en)

The invention provides a method of and a kit of parts for making a three-dimensional plaque or picture. The method comprises obtaining a sheet (1) one side of which has a contact adhesive coating thereon covered by a peelable release paper and the other side of which is printed with a required design or picture (2a, 2b) and with at least one selected part (3a, 3b, 4a, 4b, 4c) of the design or picture, the sheet (1) and the release paper being diecut around the design or picture (2) and the at least one selected part (3, 4) of the design or picture to enable the removal of those portions having the design (2) and the at least one selected part (3, 4) thereon, removing the portion having the design (2) thereon, peeling the release paper from said one side of the portion and adhesively securing the portion with the design (2) thereon on a backing member (5), removing the at least one portion having a said selected part (3, 4) of the design thereon, and superimposing the at least one portion over the corresponding part of the design (2), with the interposition of spacers (7), the release paper being left in position on said at least one portion so as to impart additional body thereto. The kit of parts comprises a said printed and diecut sheet (1), a backing member (5) and spacer pads. (7).
