Abstract (en)

Cleaning the cavity between a window and an additional window can be done without damaging the clamping profiles (2) of the mounting frame for the additional window (3) by shifting those clamping profiles (2) during mounting and dismounting of the additional window (3) in a plane parallel to the surface of the additional window (3). Most preferred is a pair of profiles (1, 2) comprising a tube (4) having a square cross-section with on one of its corner points (5) a flange (6) carrying at its end a click wing (7) extending parallel to the surface of the additional window (3) to be mounted.
