Abstract (en)
[origin: EP0096260A1] A liquid detergent and additive metering and distributing device for a washing machine, particularly for a laundry washing machine for domestic use, comprises a liquids reservoir (7) disposed in the lower portion of the machine and associated to at least one metering chamber (8) located therebelow, the connection between said reservoir and said chamber being adapted to be closed by automatic valve means (9) said chamber being connected to the washing tub of the machine. The metering chamber (8) is connected to an air chamber (13) provided with automatic valve means (12, 14) and associated to a free jet section (5) connected to the water supply circuit (3). Means may optionally be provided for varying the metered amount of the liquids dispensed via the metering chamber.
