Abstract (en)
[origin: WO8304163A1] A nappy formed with front and rear portions, the front portion (14) being provided with connection points (25, 26) through which filamentary material may be passed and the rear portion (15) being provided with two lengths of filamentary material (16, 17) attached at opposite upper edges (20, 22) of the rear flap so that in application the nappy is fixed by drawing the front flaps up between a child's legs to meet with the opposite sides of the rear flap folded around the child. The connecting filaments (16, 17) are passed through the connecting points (25, 26) and tied in place (31).
