Abstract (en)
An apparatus for washing machined workpieces comprises a wash chamber for the workpiece, which is positioned on a table mobile in such a manner as to orientate the various faces of the workpiece in front of a wash nozzle; the nozzle is mounted on a robot which is controlled by a numerical control system and is constituted by a set of mutually hinged or otherwise mobile arms of such a number as to enable the nozzle to undergo a sequence of spatial rotary and traversing movements sufficient to enable it to reach every part of the workpiece to be washed.
