Abstract (en)
[origin: US4610417A] The desk of the folding music holder with a support part and a rest running approximately transversely to it consists of at least two folding hinged portions, in particular rest parts, which hang together through hinge bands. Each hinge band is preferably designed as material thin point in the area of a groove between the hinged portions. The rest or the entire desk can thus be formed as a one-piece plastic part, where the rest in the operating position provides a flush work surface.
