Abstract (en)
A dispenser for paper rolls. The dispenser (42) comprises an attachment bracket (44), a bottom wall (46) and a pivotally mounted housing (48). The dispenser is designed to hold one or two paper rolls (28). The latter are of the kind from which the paper web is wound off from the roll interior. In the dispenser (42) holding two rolls the paper webs of the two rolls are tied together in such a manner that the outer or trailing end of the web on one roll is tied together with the inner or starting end of the web of the other roll. An opening (50) for withdrawal of paper is formed in the bottom (52). This opening is positioned at a distance from the lower edge of the housing which is formed with a tear-off edge (34). The tear-off edge extends along part of the housing.
