Abstract (en)

A training top for equilibrium exercises consisting of a top body substantially in the shape of an inverted dome (1), round or at least in part rounded off, having on it a discshaped supporting platform (2) with a diameter equal to or slightly larger than the diameter of the part of the dome which carries the supporting platform, the dimensioning being such that the user can stand on the platform with both feet. The body of the top is a substantially hollow body made of hard plastic material having therein at least one filling reservoir for the accommodation of a mass and balance providing filling liquid or solid. It is further possible to provide the rim of the platform with an annular second reservoir for a filling substance.
