Abstract (en)
[origin: US4575036A] The disclosure is directed to an advertising stand defined by a pedestal and a frame, the pedestal including a pair of legs bridged by a strut and the frame being adapted to receive therein a poster or the like, a pair of L-shaped brackets carried by the strut and a pair of generally vertically disposed brackets carried by the frame, the frame and strut brackets having sandwiched therebetween elastomeric bodies for torsionally elastically connecting the frame to the pedestal whereby the frame is adapted to assume a tilted position relative to the pedestal by elastic deformation of the elastomeric bodies due to the force of wind or the like.
