Abstract (en)
[origin: ES8607430A1] A plurality of supporting members for card clothing wires integrated in a frame and arranged directly adjacently succeeding each other in the direction of the carding forms a carding member which cooperates as revolving flat card together with a main drum. The card clothing of the individual supports can be exchanged individually and preferably a card clothing is used similar to the one of revolving flat arrangements. Accordingly the procedure when mounting and exchanging the card clothing of revolving flat cards can be simplified considerably.
