Abstract (en)

[origin: EP0154043A1] A retaining disc for cavity wall insulation, with a central seat within a central lug and clampingly fitting on a wall tie, said seat being accessible from the outside by means of a transversal slot. The lug is in the form of a ring coaxially surrounding the seat at some distance, inside which two flexible strips aligned with the edges of the slot are present, said strips each being provided with recesses in said strips forming a tie seat.
