Abstract (en)
[origin: EP0156328A2] The bag comprises a first rectangular member (4) made of foldable material and being connected to foldable flaps (20-22). The flaps are arranged on at least two adjacent sides of the first member, and are formed with pockets for holding miscellaneous items. The first member can form a compartment for accommodating at least one person. The flaps are fitted with hooked pile fasteners, for fast connection and release. The flaps can fit over and enclose the first member when the latter is packed up.
