Abstract (en)
[origin: ES8607119A1] A printing device includes a plate carrying cylinder in contact with a printing transfer cylinder two or three times its circumference. Two pressure cylinders are movable between a withdrawn position and a use position where they maintain a web in printing contact with the printing transfer cylinder at two distinct positions, for forming two impressions on the web during one cycle. A method for printing in accordance with the device is also disclosed.
