Abstract (en)
[origin: EP0160952A2] The game equipment consists of track sections which abut each other in the longitudinal direction of the track and are solidly but detachably connected to each other, and obstacles which can be set up thereon as desired. The track sections are designed as plastics mouldings, and in each case at least one support element fixedly arranged in the region of the end face of a track section engages under the end edge region of the adjacent track section. The obstacles may be multi-function obstacles which are provided with an adhesive coating or with magnetic clamps in the region of their standing surfaces (Figs. 2, 6). <IMAGE>
