Abstract (en)

A mirror comprises a housing, a reflector mounted on the housing, and lamps mounted adjacent to the reflector for illuminating a subject positioned before the reflector. A circuit is connected to the lamps for actuating them. A handle is pivotally connected to the housing, and a detent selectively retains the handle in any of a plurality of different angular detent positions with respect to the reflector. The mirror can be utilized optionally by placing it on a support or holding it by hand, the handle being retained in a selected one of the angular positions.
