Abstract (en)
[origin: EP0177358A2] A bed assembly consists of four upright members 10, two cross members 12, the ends of which slide into slots in the upright members 10, and hinged together auxiliary members 16. The auxiliary members 16 brace the cross members and urge the ends of the cross members against the sides of the slots. The members are all formed from lengths of steel tubing suitably bent and shaped at their ends.
