Abstract (en)

This invention relates to a rear entrance ski boot which comprises a boot shell (1) whereon a front quarter (2) and a rear quarter (3) are journaled. The peculiar aspect of the invention resides in that the boot closure means are constructed without outer closure levers and comprise mutual connection means (10, 11, 20) for detachably joining the rear quarter (3) with the front quarter (2), as well as locking means (30) which may be operated independently of the cited connection means and act in the area delimited by the quarters to constrain the skier's leg.
