Abstract (en)
[origin: ES8701888A1] A container to be used notably as building element, comprising assembled wall elements, which are provided with first assembly arrangement which oppose disengaging of the wall elements inwardly of the container. The container further comprises second assembly arrangement for the wall elements which have a resilient force and are so arranged as to connect together the wall elements, the resilient force direction thereof being so designed as to prevent disengaging of the wall elements outwardly of the container.
