Abstract (en)

[origin: WO8603658A1] The device comprises a tubular element (3) with slide (4, 5) wherein is slidingly mounted a cup (9) intended to receive a product stick, a cylindrical envelope (12) in the wall of which there is provided at least one spiral groove intended to co-operate with spigots (10, 11) of the cup, said envelope (12) being fitted on the element (3), and an outer casing. The tubular element (3) is provided on its outer wall, towards its end remote from the outlet (17), with spring stop means (21) intended to bear against the adjacent edge (22) of the cylindrical envelope (12) when the latter has been fitted on the tubular element (3), said spring stop means (21) pushing the envelope (12) in a direction parallel to the axial direction against the stop means (B1, 19) provided at the other end.
