Abstract (en)
[origin: EP0215771A2] The foldable walking-stick with a handle (5), in particular a hiking stick, mountaineering stick or the like, consists of several tubular parts (1, 2, 3) which can be inserted into one another and are penetrated by a rubber cord (18) which is attached in each case to the top and bottom tubular part (1, 3). An additional tubular part (4) is inserted in the top tubular part (1) so as to be displaceable with a locking mechanism so that the entire length of the stick can be adjusted and fixed. <IMAGE>
