Abstract (en)

[origin: WO8603175A1] The clip for holding together superposed or upon each other folded portions (3, 5) of a box blank folded to form a box or the like is constituted by a pair of walls (8) with a web (10) permanently connected to at least one of the walls, the web being adapted to be inserted into slots or apertures (6) aligned in the box wall portion formed by the superposed or upon each other folded blank portions. Upon the web having been inserted into the slots the blank wall portions are held against each other by the walls of the clip, one of which may be detachable and mountable on the web upon the latter having been inserted into the slots.
