Abstract (en)
[origin: US4793388A] Modular apparatus for mixing, storing, metering and dispensing flowable materials wherein the modules constitute standard containers for shipment of bulk and other goods and the containers confine and/or support various material treating units. The apparatus can treat and/or store two or more different types of flowable material which are stored separately or in admixture to one another. The containers can be assembled into a group which contains superimposed horizontal and/or upright containers.
