Abstract (en)

[origin: US4800625A] A baseplate assembly for mounting a hinge bracket of a furniture hinge or the like comprises a base plate, which is adapted to be secured to a carrying wall or the like by fixing screws, and a cover plate, which covers or partly overlaps the base plate and is guided on the same transversely to the hinge bracket or the like. The base plate is formed in its end portions with bores for receiving fixing screws, which bores register with intermediate portions of slots, which are formed in luglike lateral extensions of the cover plate and extend on the line connecting the bores, and the bores are defined at least in part by projections, which serve as guides for the side faces of the slots.
