Abstract (en)

A closure (10) for containers comprises a stopper or liner (11) held in place by a metal cap (13) crimped to the mouth of the container (12) into which the stopper or liner is inserted as a seal. Said cap has in its upper portion a circular raised part (18) onto which is placed and secured a tear off crown (14) for removing said cap, either partially or totally, which crown has a gripping-edge (21) which partially overtops the skirt of said cap. The base of said raised part is provided with an annular line of least resistance surrounding it.
