Abstract (en)
[origin: EP0243643A2] 1. Device for isolating individuals, allowing limited access to a secure room, having an outer door (1), allowing access from outside a secure room to a cabin (5), providing space for one individual only, having an inner door (7) accessing from said cabin (5) to said secure room, having means hindering the simultaneous opening of both doors, characterised in that a substantially L-shaped hip baffle (2) is affixed to the inner side of the outer door (1) in a manner such that one limb of the "L" extends perpendicularly to the door extending accross the entrance when the door is open, so that the door inevitably closes when the cabin (5) is entered.
