Abstract (en)

[origin: US4767252A] This invention is directed to a manipulator for automatically supplying centrifuge machines for rotating bobbins of yarn in which the manipulator includes a carriage equipped with stop wings and tightening arms which grip the bobbins conducted to the carriage by a conveyor and wherein the carriage moves the bobbins to the baskets of the centrifuge machines and thereafter returns to its initial position while flaps mounted on the carriage cover the centrifuge machine as the bobbins are rotated therein and thereafter the flaps urge the bobbins from the centrifuge machines to a receiver plate.
