The kit comprises a multiplicity of sachets (50) containing various allergens in the form of bubbles (49). The sachets (50) are capable of being connected together in any desired combination of allergens. The kit further comprises a needle assembly (57, 58) for piercing the sachets and the skin and a roller (61) or other means for applying pressure to the needle assembly to effect piercing. A guide or aligner may be used to guide the pressure applying and limit the penetration of the needles.
