Abstract (en)

[origin: EP0264768A2] The package has a deep-drawn container and a likewise deep-drawn lid. Both consist of plastic, the container being transparent. The lid is fitted with attachments so that it can be used as a tray when the package is turned over. The container then serves as a protective hood for the contents, both being separated in the originally packaged state by a film-type structure. <IMAGE>
