Abstract (en)

[origin: EP0264825A2] The viscosity/temperature behaviour of products with a low or zero water content is regulated by simultaneous use of fat derivatives and/or polyacrylic acid derivatives as thickening agents and of low molecular weight mono- or polyhydric alcohols with 1 to 6 carbon atoms and/or liquid hydrocarbons with a thinning action. The products contain, for example, ingredients of textile detergents and are used as pasty agents for the pretreatment of laundry, which retain their pasty consistency within a wide temperature range.
