Abstract (en)
[origin: EP0274448A2] The carton is erected from a blank sheet of material and comprises a base (10') and spaced sides (11-14) on the base. A plurality of article support members is provided, which support members (57-60) are formed either by bending them out of an inner side wall or by bending of a panel adjacent the inner side wall. The support members extend for approximately the full height of the side wall.
