Abstract (en)
A portable, miniature golf game device adapted for indoor/outdoor use and particularly useful for wheelchair bound and prosthetic wearing persons which may be easily assembled and disassembled without special tools comprised of parts which may be interfitted together to form a variety of configurations allowing the golf holes to be disposed in varying and different situations confronting the player with a full golf game in a small area, each hole presenting different physical and mental challenges to the player. The different configurations of the device are made from an assembly of parts which include barriers in the shape of open rectangles (11), and swingable gates (27a, 27b, 27c) mounted on threshold members (29) provided with an inclined ramp. The gate and ramp (32) allow wheelchairs to move onto the golf playing area.
