Abstract (en)
[origin: EP0286102A1] The cushion with a filling always has a "plump" appearance at the time of the sale, but only has as much filling as is sufficient for healthy sleep. In addition to materials, such as down, feathers, fibres, fibre balls, foam particles or the like, intended for use of the cushion, the filling also has constituents which can be removed prior to the intended use. <??>The removable constituents can be formed by a filled insert or a cardboard insert surrounding a hollow space. The insert may consist of a bag and be filled with materials which are different from the rest of the cushion. <IMAGE>
