Abstract (en)

A soap tablet in its unused state has two opposed parallel faces (10,12) one of which has a protrusion (14), the other a complimentary shaped recess (22) so that a similar tablet can be nested therein. The face (10) having the protrusion (14) is coated with a water impervious layer (30) to ensure it maintains its shape during use, the layer being removable when the tablet is almost finished to enable it to be nested with a fresh tablet and further used with this tablet.
