Abstract (en)
[origin: EP0288714A2] The artificial nail (1) consists of a plastic material for bonding to a natural nail (2). For its use as a ready-to-wear nail, the plastic material is transparent and the artificial nail (1) is constructed as an optical substrate in the form of a magnifying glass. By this means, a picture illustration (5), which is inserted between the natural nail (2) and the artificial nail (1), is visible in such an enlarged form that its individual character is recognisable. <IMAGE>
