Abstract (en)
[origin: EP0310837A2] The device for holding blades (17; 48), intended for sale, has a stiff, sheet-like support (2; 27), on which a dispenser (3; 28), which accommodates the blades and covers them against direct access, is arranged in a form-fitting manner in such a way that the support has to be destroyed for opening the dispenser and for detaching the latter from the support. <IMAGE>
[origin: EP0310837A2] The display card (27) has a recess, to which the blade dispenser is clipped in such a way that it can only be removed by destroying the card. The latter carries the vending and use information and is hung on the vending display. The dispenser is made from two parts, which are clipped from either side of the card. A spring inside the dispenser holds the blades (48) in the dispensing position.
