Abstract (en)
The subject of the invention is a watch comprising a first case (1) containing the mechanism that can be coupled with a second, outer case (6, 6a), surrounding at least partially the periphery of the first case (1), which has supports (10, 10 min , 10a) or fastening means. The coupling between the first case (1) containing the mechanism and the second, outer case (6, 6a) is preferably a snap coupling. Reciprocal engaging means are preferably provided between the first case (1) and the second case (6, 6a).
